

Fig. 1 Existing ecological network in Birmingham and the Black Country superimposed on coincidence map of 191 key species associated with long established semi-natural vegetation.

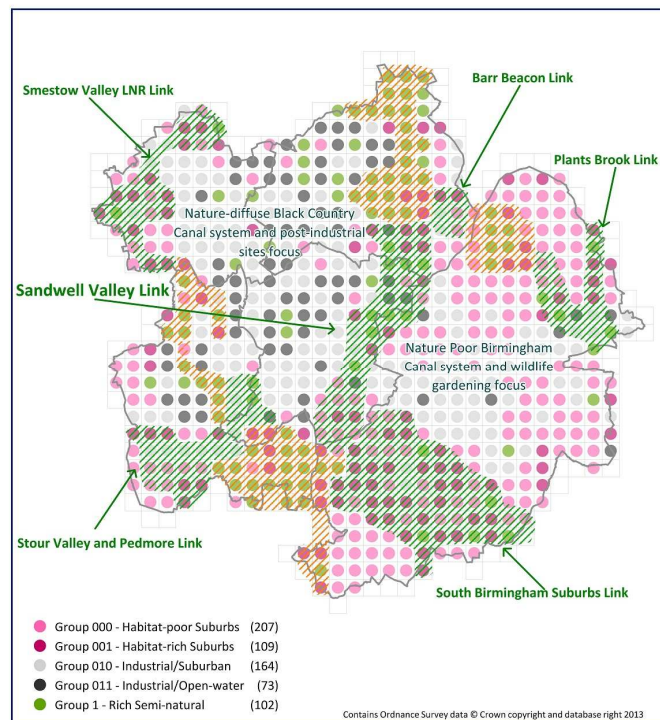

Fig 2 Desired ecological network in Birmingham and the Black Country superimposed on a classification based on the whole flora showing existing ecological corridors (in orange), main enhancement corridors (in green) and also strategies elsewhere).